Dear Sir:

Re: Prince Arthur's Landing Marine Work – Phase 1, Stage1

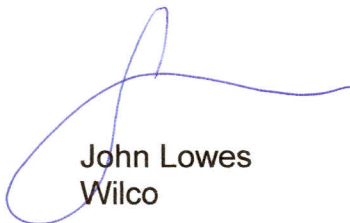

Please accept this letter as our thank you for your firm's work on the above noted project. The degree of professionalism, and strong work ethic your men exercised during their work not only ensured a top rate job, which they delivered under some pretty harsh conditions, but also reflected a higher degree for our firm.

The attention provided to this project can easily be seen in not one but 2 visits by both Andrew, and your Operations Manager Karl. This left a significant impression on us. When it became critical for Wilco to increase productions, Birmingham responded in mere days sending a second crew to work into the bitterly cold nights. It was a pleasure working with Charlie, with the icicles hanging from his moustache when it hit -28 C. The wall is incredibly straight.

For awhile it seemed our project was more akin to a design build, without the expertise of Birmingham, the project would likely not have been completed. Andrew's forwarding the Toe-Pin solution put the Design Engineer's concerns to bed immediately, and put us back to work.

I am the second generation in my family that can now proudly say has worked with Birmingham.

Yours Truly,

John Lowes
